

About Us

The School Psychology Store was founded by a group of School Psychologist's. We offer two ebooks that will help students get accepted into graduate school and then help them secure their first job.

Our goal is to create a web-based shop where co-workers, students, parents, family members, husbands, wives, and children can purchase products that are School Psychology related in order to promote the profession.

If you have an idea for a product or have a product that matches this mission, please email us via the contact page and we can help you start selling your idea/product. Our goal is to promotes pride in the profession of School Psychology.

The Next School Psych Awareness Week is November 9-13, 2008
